MICHAEL C. SCHER,

Plaintiff,

V.

CITY OF LAS VEGAS, NV;
CAROLYN GOODMAN; BRAD JERBIC;
CYNTHIA LEUNG; and MATHEW
WALKER,

Case No. 2:14-cv-02105-APG-CWH

ORDER (1) GRANTING MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON THE PLEADINGS IN PART AND (2) DENYING MOTION
FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

(ECF Nos. 40, 41)

Defendants.

Plaintiff Michael C. Scher was issued a misdemeanor traffic citation for running a stop sign, to which he pleaded not guilty. Scher alleges that at his pretrial hearing, he was not allowed to present a defense or serve interrogatories on the prosecutor. On the day scheduled for trial, Scher paid a reduced bail, the charges were dropped, and the case was dismissed. But Scher contends that his plea was changed without his knowledge or consent. Scher brought this action against the judge, prosecutor, city attorney, mayor, and City of Las Vegas pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and 42 U.S.C. § 1985.

The defendants move for judgment on the pleadings, arguing that Scher's claims fail as a matter of law. Scher opposes and moves for summary judgment. The defendants argue first that there was no violation of Scher's constitutional rights, so all of his claims must fail as a matter of law. In addition, the defendants argue that all of the individual defendants are immune from liability. The defendants also argue that Scher has not alleged a basis for liability under § 1983 for the city, the city attorney, or the mayor. Finally, the defendants argue that Scher has not alleged a basis for liability under § 1985.

I grant the defendants' motion in part but allow Scher to amend some of his claims. The judge and prosecutor have absolute immunity for their actions at issue in this case, so I grant the 1 defendants' motion as to those defendants. With respect to claims regarding the pretrial hearing,

2 there was no violation of Scher's federally protected rights, as he was not entitled to a preliminary
3 examination. I therefore grant the defendants' motion on the claims arising out of the alleged 4 denial of a preliminary examination.

5 It is possible that changing Scher's plea without his consent is a violation of his right to 6 due process. But, as currently drafted, the complaint does not sufficiently allege a city policy or 7 custom of changing pleas or that the city attorney or mayor were personally involved in the 8 alleged misconduct such that the City, city attorney, or mayor could be liable under § 1983.
9 Additionally, the complaint does not state a basis for liability under § 1985, as Scher has not 10 alleged that he is a member of a protected class who was deprived of a right because of 11 discriminatory animus. However, because Scher may be able to allege facts in support of these 12 claims, I grant leave to amend. Finally, because I grant the defendants' motion in part, I deny
13 Scher's motion for summary judgment.

14 I. BACKGROUND

15 Plaintiff Michael Scher was issued a misdemeanor traffic citation for running a stop sign.
16 ECF No. 1 at 17. At his arraignment, he pleaded not guilty. Id. At Scher's pretrial hearing in Las 17 Vegas Municipal Court, he began presenting his defense, at which point the prosecutor (defendant 18 Mathew Walker) objected. Id. at 2. The municipal court judge, defendant Cynthia Leung, 19 stopped Scher and set a trial date. Id. Scher attempted to present Walker with a set of 20 interrogatories, which Walker refused to take. Id. at 5.

21 Before trial, Scher filed several motions to dismiss. Id. at 3, 17. Judge Leung took no
22 action on the motions. Id. at 5. Scher alleges that on the trial date, his plea of not guilty was 23 changed "without his knowledge or consent." Id. at 3. He had agreed to a settlement that 24 included the dismissal of the case. Id. But the court docket states the not guilty plea was 25 withdrawn, a plea of "submit" was entered, a reduced bail was paid, and the charge was 26 dismissed. See id. at 19.

27
28

1           On December 12, 2014, Scher commenced this action against the City of Las Vegas,
2 Walker, Leung, city attorney Brad Jerbic, and Las Vegas mayor Carolyn Goodman. He alleges 3 that denying him the ability to present a defense or serve interrogatories on the prosecutor at the 4 pretrial hearing, and the judge’s failure to act on his motions to dismiss, violated his rights to 5 equal protection and due process. He further alleges that the change of his plea from not guilty to 6 “submit” without his knowledge or consent violated his right to due process. Finally, Scher
7 alleges that the defendants engaged in a conspiracy to deprive him of equal protection of the laws
8 in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1985(3).

9           II.       ANALYSIS

10          Judgment on the pleadings under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(c) is proper if,
11 “taking all the allegations in the pleadings as true, the moving party is entitled to judgment as a 12 matter of law.” Milne ex rel. Coyne v. Stephen Slesinger, Inc., 430 F.3d 1036, 1042 (9th Cir.
13 2005) (quotation omitted). A Rule 12(c) motion is the functional equivalent of a Rule 12(b)(6)
14 motion. See Harris v. Orange Cty., 682 F.3d 1126, 1131 (9th Cir. 2012). Consequently, I must 15 determine whether the complaint contains “sufficient factual matter . . . to state a claim of relief
16 that is plausible on its face.” Id. (quoting Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009)).

17           A. Defendant Leung

18          A judge has absolute immunity for her judicial acts, even if in excess of her authority or 19 alleged to have been done maliciously or corruptly, as long as she had “jurisdiction over the 20 subject matter before” her. Stump v. Sparkman, 435 U.S. 349, 356–57 (1978); see also Meek v.
21 Cty. of Riverside, 183 F.3d 962, 965 (9th Cir. 1999). Only if a judge acts in the “clear absence of 22 jurisdiction” will she lose absolute immunity. Stump, 435 U.S. at 356–57.

23          Scher’s allegations against Judge Leung arise only out of her judicial acts regarding his 24 case. He alleges that Judge Leung violated his Fourteenth Amendment rights to equal protection 25 and due process by not allowing him to present a defense at his pretrial hearing, “fail[ing] to 26 immediately dismiss [the] case,” and changing his plea without his permission. See ECF No. 1 at 27 2–3. Furthermore, he alleges that the judge was a part of a conspiracy to deprive him of equal
28

1 protection by not dismissing the case on his motions and dismissing the case after the plea
2 change. Id. at 4. Even accepting Scher’s allegations as true, Judge Leung had subject matter
3 jurisdiction over his misdemeanor traffic trial. See Nev. Rev. Stat. § 5.050. As Judge Leung was 4 not acting in the clear absence of jurisdiction, she is entitled to absolute immunity, so I grant the 5 defendants’ motion with respect to all claims against her. Amendment would be futile, so I deny
6 leave to amend as to defendant Leung. See Nunes v. Ashcroft, 375 F.3d 805, 808 (9th Cir. 2004)
7 (“Futility alone can justify the denial of a motion for leave to amend.”).

8           B. Defendant Walker

9 Prosecutors have absolute immunity for conduct “intimately associated with the judicial 10 phase of the criminal process.” Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409, 430 (1976). Absolute 11 immunity may not apply when a prosecutor is engaged in investigative or administrative tasks, as 12 opposed to when he is acting as an “officer of the court.” See Van De Kamp v. Goldstein, 555
13 U.S. 335, 342 (2009) (quoting Imbler, 424 U.S. at 431 n.33); see also Cousins v. Lockyer, 568
14 F.3d 1063, 1068 (9th Cir. 2009). Initiating a prosecution and presenting the government’s case 15 are acts entitled to absolute immunity as they involve the prosecutor’s role as an “advocate of the 16 State.” Imbler, 424 U.S. at 431 n.33. This is also the case for “pretrial court appearances by the 17 prosecutor in support of taking criminal action against a suspect.” Burns v. Reed, 500 U.S. 478, 18 492 (1991).

19 Scher’s allegations against Walker concern his prosecution of the case (his objection to 20 extended pretrial proceedings and refusal to accept interrogatories). These actions fall within 21 Walker’s role as an advocate for the state “rather than his role as ‘administrator or investigative 22 officer.’” Id. at 491 (quoting Imbler, 424 U.S. at 430–31). Therefore, Walker has absolute
23 immunity with regard to Scher’s claims, and I grant the defendants’ motion with respect to all
24 claims against him. Amendment would be futile, so I deny leave to amend as to defendant
25 Walker. See Nunes, 375 F.3d at 808.

1                   C. Claims arising from the pretrial hearing

2                 “To state a claim under § 1983, a plaintiff must allege the violation of a right secured by 3 the Constitution and laws of the United States, and must show that the alleged deprivation was 4 committed by a person acting under color of state law.” West v. Atkins, 487 U.S. 42, 48 (1988).<sup>1</sup>
5 The Constitution and laws of the United States do not guarantee state court defendants the right to 6 a preliminary hearing “to determine whether a case should proceed to trial.” Peterson v.
7 California, 604 F.3d 1166, 1169 (9th Cir. 2010); Ramirez v. Arizona, 437 F.2d 119, 119–120 (9th
8 Cir. 1971). Furthermore, for simple misdemeanor cases (as opposed to gross misdemeanors or 9 felonies), Nevada law does not provide for a preliminary examination. See Baron v. Ninth
10 Judicial Dist. Court, 600 P.2d 1192, 1193 (Nev. 1979) (citing Nev. Rev. Stat. § 171.202 11 (providing that the district attorney “shall be present at and conduct the prosecution of all 12 preliminary examinations where a felony or gross misdemeanor is charged”)).

13                 Scher was not entitled to a preliminary examination at his pretrial hearing, and any alleged 14 deprivation with respect to that hearing would not be a violation of his right to due process. I
15 therefore grant the defendants’ motion with respect to all claims arising out of the alleged denial
16 of a pretrial hearing. Amendment would be futile, so I deny leave to amend as to constitutional
17 claims based on the alleged denial of a preliminary examination. See Nunes, 375 F.3d at 808.

18                   D. Section 1983 claims against Jerbic and Goodman related to the change of plea

19                 To be liable under § 1983, a defendant must have personally participated in the alleged 20 misconduct. Taylor v. List, 880 F.2d 1040, 1045 (9th Cir. 1989). “There is no respondeat
21 superior liability under section 1983.” Id. Thus, a supervisor cannot be liable merely because a 22 subordinate engaged in illegal behavior. Rather, “[a] supervisor is liable under § 1983 for a 23 subordinate’s constitutional violations ‘if the supervisor participated in or directed the violations,
24 or knew of the violations and failed to act to prevent them.’” Maxwell v. Cty. of San Diego, 708
25 F.3d 1075, 1086 (9th Cir. 2013) (quoting Taylor, 880 F.2d at 1045).

26
27                 <sup>1</sup> It is undisputed that as to the alleged deprivations, defendants Jerbic and Goodman, as city
28 attorney and mayor, would have been acting under color of state law.

1 Scher has not alleged facts sufficient to show either Jerbic or Goodman was personally
2 involved in the alleged misconduct. According to the complaint, they are liable because they are 3 the “individual[s] most responsible” for the actions of Walker and the City. ECF No. 1 at 3. The 4 complaint does not allege either Jerbic or Goodman was even aware of the changed plea, much
5 less participated in changing it. Scher has not alleged that Jerbic or Goodman personally
6 participated in or directed the alleged misconduct, or knew of it and failed to act to prevent it.

7 Therefore, I dismiss the claims against Jerbic and Goodman regarding the plea change.
8 However, amendment is not necessarily futile as it may be possible for Scher to plead facts
9 showing personal involvement by these individuals in the change of his plea. I thus grant Scher
10 leave to amend his complaint if such facts exist.

11 E. Section 1983 claims against the City regarding the plea change

12 A municipality also cannot be held liable under § 1983 under a respondeat superior
13 theory. Monell v. Dep’t of Social Services of City of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 691 (1978). Rather, 14 for “the government as an entity [to be] responsible under § 1983,” the injury must be inflicted by 15 the “execution of a government’s policy or custom, whether made by its lawmakers or by those 16 whose edicts or acts may fairly be said to represent official policy.” Id. at 694.

17 Scher has not alleged any facts showing that the change of his plea was undertaken
18 pursuant to a policy or custom of the City. He has not alleged that Leung and Walker were acting
19 pursuant to an existing government policy or custom. Nor has he alleged that they had “final 20 policymaking authority” for the City such that their actions could be considered official City
21 policy. See McMillian v. Monroe Cty., Ala., 520 U.S. 781, 784–85 (1997).

22 Therefore, I dismiss the claims against the City regarding the plea change. However,
23 because amendment is not necessarily futile, I grant Scher leave to amend his complaint if he can 24 plead facts that plausibly allege that the City has a policy or custom of changing pleas without 25 defendants’ knowledge or consent.

26 F. Section 1985(3) conspiracy claims

27 A cause of action for conspiracy under § 1985(3) has four elements:

(1) a conspiracy; (2) for the purpose of depriving, either directly or indirectly, any person or class of persons of the equal protection of the laws, or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws; and (3) an act in furtherance of this conspiracy; (4) whereby a person is either injured in his person or property or deprived of any right or privilege of a citizen of the United States.

United Bhd. of Carpenters & Joiners of Am. v. Scott, 463 U.S. 825, 828–29 (1983). “Further, the second of these four elements requires that in addition to identifying a legally protected right, a plaintiff must demonstrate a deprivation of that right motivated by ‘some racial, or perhaps otherwise class-based, invidiously discriminatory animus behind the conspirators’ action.’” Sever v. Alaska Pulp Corp., 978 F.2d 1529, 1536 (9th Cir. 1992) (quoting Griffin v. Breckenridge, 403 U.S. 88, 102 (1971)). Put another way, plaintiffs under § 1985(3) must “show that they are members of a class that the government has determined ‘require[s] and warrant[s] special federal assistance in protecting their rights.’” RK Ventures, Inc. v. City of Seattle, 307 F.3d 1045, 1056 (9th Cir. 2002) (quoting Sever, 978 F.2d at 1536). As to the fourth element, the “deprivation of federal constitutional rights is a necessary element of the alleged conspiracy.” Giannini v. Real, 911 F.2d 354, 359 (9th Cir. 1990).

Scher alleges that his plea was changed from “not guilty” to “submit” without his knowledge or consent in violation of his Fourteenth Amendment right to due process. However, he has not alleged that he is a member of a protected class such as a racial or political minority, nor has he alleged facts showing that the alleged misconduct was motivated by a class-based, invidiously discriminatory animus. Therefore, I dismiss the claims arising under § 1985(3). However, because amendment is not necessarily futile, I grant Scher leave to amend his complaint if he can properly plead facts giving rise to this cause of action.

III. CONCLUSION

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the defendants' motion for judgment on the pleadings (ECF No. 40) is GRANTED IN PART. Judgment is granted on Scher's claims against defendants Cynthia Leung and Mathew Walker. Judgment is granted on Scher's claims against all defendants based on the alleged denial of a preliminary examination. Scher's claims

1 against defendants Carolyn Goodman, Brad Jerbic, and the City of Las Vegas based on the 2 alleged change of his plea and under 42 U.S.C. §1985(3) are dismissed without prejudice.

3 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff Michael Scher's motion for summary
4 judgment (ECF No. 41) is DENIED.

5 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that plaintiff Michael Scher may file an amended complaint
6 within 30 days of the date of this order, if sufficient facts exist. Scher is informed that I cannot
7 look to prior pleadings or filings to make his amended complaint complete. Local Rule 15-1
8 requires that an amended complaint be complete in itself without reference to any prior pleading
9 or filing. Failure to file an amended complaint within 30 days will result in this case being 10 closed.

11 DATED this 20th day of September, 2017.
